Using microfilm in Special Collections

Some of our genealogical records on microfilm are available digitally online through databases such as Ancestry Library Edition (in-Library use only) and FamilySearch. The Akron Beacon Journal 1872-current is available digitally through the subscription database Newspapers.com. The Akron Reporter is available through Ohio Memory. Before you visit us to look at microfilm, you may want to verify whether you can access it online. If you're not sure, please contact us for assistance.

We have several microfilm readers with printing and scanning capabilities. Scanning machines require users to log in with a valid Akron-Summit County Public Library card. Anyone living, working or attending school in Ohio may obtain a library card free of charge. Out-of-state visitors, please ask at the Special Collections reference desk for temporary access.

Scanning is free. You may email scanned files, or save them to a flash drive or to personal cloud storage such as Google Drive. Printouts are $.05 per page, payable at a coin-operated box.

We will be happy to assist you with locating microfilm, using the readers, and navigating the microfilm during your visit to Special Collections. If you cannot visit and would like us to look up specific records, please see our Requests & Lookups guidelines.

Ohio resources

Civil War Roster Index, Adjutant General of Ohio
County & Regional Histories and Atlases, Ohio Reels 7, 29, 33, 84
These reels consist of a variety of materials. Atlases include Delaware, Licking, Muskingum and Fairfield Counties, 1866; Stark, Tuscarawas, and Clark, 1875; Lake, 1898; and Holmes, 1907, among others. County histories include Hancock County, 1881 and the Historical Collections of Harrison County, among others.
Official Roster of Soldiers of the State of Ohio 1886-1895
Ohio Surname Index
Compiled by local chapters of the Ohio DAR between 1928 and 1936, this source indexes various Ohio county histories, other local histories, genealogies, and periodicals. A list of the indexed sources appears near the beginning of the first reel. Cards are arranged alphabetically by surname and provide the title and page number of the referenced source.
Ohio Death Certificates 1908-1953 and indexes 1908-1954

Ohio Penitentiary Prisoner Registers 1829-1938

Information recorded varies with time period. Earlier entries may include name, length of sentence, type of crime, when and how discharged, birthplace, occupation, property owned, description of closest family, and comments on character. Later entries include less information. Discharge information extends beyond 1938. Entries are arranged chronologically by date of reception at the penitentiary and there is an index up to 1849.

Ohio Tax Duplicates 1812

Arranged alphabetically by county and roughly alphabetically by taxpayer surname.

Record of Appointment of Postmasters for Ohio 1832-1971

Arranged by county and not indexed. Researchers will need to know at least the county their subject served to locate a record. Information is generally limited to name, date of appointment, and township or locality served.

Genealogical Data Relating to Women in the Western Reserve Before 1840 (1850)

A project of the Women's Department of the Cleveland Centennial Commission, this source contains basic genealogical information on thousands of women who settled in the Western Reserve before 1850. Organized by township, information includes married name, maiden name, year of settlement in the township, where from, and last residence. A book index to the microfilm is available. Anecdotal biographical information on many, but not all of the same women is available in the companion two-volume book series, Memorial to the Pioneer Women of the Western Reserve.

Newspapers and Periodicals

Note: Date ranges may not be complete and issues may be missing.

Akron Beacon Journal

Akron Beacon Journal 1841-current (includes Akron Daily Beacon, Summit County Beacon and related titles)

The Akron Beacon Journal has gone through several title and frequency changes over the years. The microfilm is arranged in two separate series, one filmed by the Works Progress Administration (WPA) and one filmed by the Ohio Historical Society (OHS). These two series differ in both content and image quality.

Issues of the Akron Daily Beacon July-December 1888 are permanently missing from our WPA series. The Ohio History Connection carries the reel containing this time frame. Issues of the Summit County Beacon, a weekly from the same time period in the OHS series, may also help to fill that gap.

Indexes prepared by Special Collections are available online. The subject indexes 1841-1939, as well as pre-1940 obituaries in the online Ohio Obituary Index, correspond to the WPA series.

Family History Library microfilm on indefinite loan

Special Collections acquired many microfilmed genealogical records through ASCPL's status as an FHL affiliate library. They are part of our microfilm collection on indefinite loan. Some films are parts of record sets and we do not necessarily carry the entire record set. To see a list of titles, use our catalog to do a keyword search of indefinite loan. The FHL has discontinued microfilm loans and there will be no additions to this collection.
